

Classification and Division

“Whereas you sort many things in classification, the purpose of division is to take one thing and divide it into its component parts.”

Example of classification:

“You many have preferred to classify your clothes according to color (red clothes, brown clothes, blue colors).

In classification, you might take many cars and separate them into categories (economy cars, moderately priced cars, and expensive cars.).

Example of division

You might deal with one particular car and separate it into its components (motor, transmission, power brakes, tires, seat belts, and so forth).

Practice:

Topic: Four methods can be used to cook fish: broiling, baking, poaching, and frying

Is this the title for an article of classification or division?

“A safe city street has three main qualities”

“Different kinds of readers”

Note that when you categorize, better that you have nothing that overlap two or three ( or even more) categories. But is this possible?
