My love and hate. My Love and Hate

In this world, I love one, and I hate one too. Let's talk about my love. Interesting, but a bit wordy.

He has short, golden hair and a little white mix in his fluffy hair. wordy again His nose is long and can catch every scent. Stout of his size. On top of that, he has a pair of glitter, charming, radiant eyes. Should turn these sentences into a long one.

Every time when I came back home, he always jumps, takes me down and licks me. I know it is a way of his welcome and I like it. Take me down? From where? Pulls you down to a sofa? Licks you? Licks your face, or hand, or your body? Unclear.

I always take a stroll with him after we finish dinner. Sometimes we play skippingboard and running race each other. "or racing." But I always lost him lose because he has four legs. Precious memory between he him and me. I will never forget the lovely time.

How What about my hate one?

He don't doesn't have much hair volume and is nearly bald. His greasy hair also can fry eggs. "His hair is so greasy that one can use it to fry eggs." His loud voice always make me deaf. His personality is so annoying and self-centered. For example, he took my stuffs without asking, and I told him do not to do that, and then he said, "I was King.", "I was King," which freak I hate. Again, you can combine some sentences here.

Another time, when I was listening to music, and he said I bothered him. "But I wear earphones." I said furiously. "Your every sound I totally heard." He said, "he said."

Another time, when I was listening to music, he said I bothered him.

"But I wear earphones."

"Your every sound I totally heard," he said.

He also is a stingy. Once, Because I was sweating like a pig, and I want to turn on the airconditioner, he said, "What are you doing?" his His voice is deafening me again, and then he snatched the remote control from my hands. "I really hate you." I said to him, you, I said. What has being stingy to do with his taking the remote control from you?

Well, who are they? Do not ask yourself questions too often. It feels strange.

My love one is my sweet pet, a dog. And the other one is my brother. I can't believe that he is my family member because he is 'King' and I am 'civilian'. a mere "civilian".

1. You are supposed to write a paragraph, not an article.
2. You use "have/has" too many times.
3. You'd better combine some sentences, since they deal with the same person or the same dog.
4. Note how to write a dialogue.
